Presenters::

Presenters to be announced shortly

Topics Covered:

This course will cover the following topics through three case studies:

Eating for Health and Sport

Metabolism and Weight Control

Fuels for Exercise

Protein and Bulking Up

Performance Nutrition

Pre-exercise and Recovery Nutrition

Fluids in Sport.

Case Study 1: Janice: The Weight Loss Client

Janice is a typical client who is trying to incorporate regular exercise into her lifestyle and would like to lose some weight. This session covers many of the common questions and misconceptions about weight loss and exercise nutrition, fat burning and exercise and provides many appropriate practical tips and strategies for weight loss.

Case Study 2: Trevor: The Sporty, Fitness Focused Client

This session aims to provide participants with an understanding of the benefits of good sports nutrition, the fuels used during exercise, the role of carbohydrate during activity and the impact on its ability to sustain performance. The session will also cover issues like hydration, the theory and practical ideas of what to eat before, during and after exercise (and when its appropriate), and the use of sports food products like sports drinks and gels.

Case Study 3: Marco: The Bulk Up Client

This session has a focus on strength gain and hypertrophy as promoting gains in muscle mass is a common goal of many clients engaging a personal trainer. The session aims to provide participants with an understanding of what works & what doesn't as it is sometimes hard to identify what works best when there is such conflicting advice on offer. This session is all about providing evidence-based, best practice dietary information on altering body composition and supplement advice that can be applied to your clients to help them achieve their goals.
